

PEDIATRIC ENDOCRINE SELF-ASSESSMENT PROGRAM

For Physicians, Directors, and Clinicians in Their Broad Review of Pediatric Endocrinology

CONTACT: licensing@endocrine.org

Pediatric Endocrine Self-Assessment Program (Pediatric ESAP™), Reference Edition, is a self-study curriculum with approximately 100 multiple-choice questions in all areas of pediatric endocrinology, diabetes, growth, and metabolism. Updated in alternate years. Approximately 150 pages.

Target Audience

Pediatric ESAP™ is aimed at physicians seeking initial certification or recertification in pediatric endocrinology, program directors interested in a testing and training instrument, and clinicians and health professionals simply wanting a self-assessment tool and a broad review of pediatric endocrinology.

- Physician-in-practice
- Fellow
- Resident
- Clinical researcher
- Educator/Teacher

Learning Objectives

- Recognize clinical manifestations of pediatric endocrine, growth, and metabolic disorders and select among current options for diagnosis, management, and therapy
- Identify risk factors for endocrine and metabolic disorders in pediatric patients and develop strategies for prevention
- Evaluate pediatric endocrine and metabolic manifestations of systemic disorders
- Use current, evidence-based clinical guidelines and treatment recommendations to guide diagnosis and treatment of pediatric endocrine and metabolic disorders

Competency Area

- Professionalism
- Patient Care and Procedural Skills
- Medical Knowledge
- Practice-Based Learning and Improvement

Topic Areas

- Adrenal/HPA Axis
- Bone and Calcitropic Hormones
- Diabetes and Glucose Metabolism
- Lipid Disorders and Fatty Liver Diseases
- Endocrine Disruptors
- General Endocrinology
- Hormone Abuse
- Growth Disorders
- Health Disparities
- Hormones and Cancer
- Men’s Health
- Neuroendocrinology and Pituitary
- Nuclear Receptors and Steroid Hormones
- Nutrition
- Obesity
- Surgery
- Thyroid/HPT Axis
- Women’s Health

TRUSTED CONTENT PARTNER

The Endocrine Society is recognized as a trusted partner with a long-standing reputation for producing and delivering high-quality content in formats that are compatible with most content management systems and technologies. Whether your customers require clinical subject matter, conference recordings, patient education and consumer health information, podcasts, webinars, or custom content, the Endocrine Society has the necessary resources, technology, and expertise for a successful licensing engagement.

LICENSING PARTNERS WE SERVE

The Endocrine Society is dedicated to working with its licensees, the community, and other organizations including:

- Pharmaceutical and medical device companies
- Health media platforms, websites, and apps
- Third-party distributors and agencies
- Library aggregators
- Point of care and physician practices
- Population health management agencies
- Providers, payers, and publishers
- Government entities and healthcare companies

For more information on Pediatric ESAP™ and other content licensing solutions, please visit www.endocrine.org/products-and-services/licensing or contact licensing@endocrine.org.

